When there's an incremental
$300 billion to be earned, flaring
just doesn't stack up.

We'll capture the gas. You capture your share of the incremental revenues we'll generate.

The US Energy Information Administration estimates that over 1.5 billion cubic feet of gases are vented and flared every day. And that's an economic as well as an environmental travesty.

Sequestering those gases can produce over $300 billion per year in carbon offsets, potentially at no cost to you. Not to mention the additional billions in annual power generation.

Entrex Cap & Trade Company offers a one-stop solution to this multi-faceted problem. We offer a capping and sequestering solution that allows us to register and trade the carbon offsets generated by mitigating the venting and flaring of the gases.

We do this on the basis of a revenue share with you and with the support of our sister company, Entrex Carbon Market, LLC, who operate the first regulatory-compliant, blockchain-enabled marketplace to create, trade and retire carbon offset securities and futures. Entrex Carbon Market also has existing relationships with many progressive companies who are committed to acquiring large quantities of offsets to mitigate their existing carbon footprint or, in some cases, their historic carbon generation and usage.
